Shenkman Capital Floating Rate High Income Fund

April 30, 2023

INVESTMENT PHILOSOPHY

The investment strategy is to seek to maximize risk-adjusted returns by investing in primarily first lien, senior secured, floating rate bank loans of non-investment grade (i.e., high yield) companies. The Shenkman Capital Floating Rate High Income Fund employs a conservative approach which focuses on principal preservation. Portfolios are well diversified across issue, issuer, and industry.

FUND OBJECTIVE

- The Shenkman Capital Floating Rate High Income Fund seeks a high level of current income.

WHY SHENKMAN FOR SENIOR SECURED LOAN INVESTING

- Loan & Bond Expertise: David Lerner's 20+ years of dedicated leveraged loan experience combined with the clout of a $29.1 billion* high yield platform facilitates strong capital market relationships that enable us to source paper, garner additional access to company management and work closely with our research coverage.
- Prudent Investment Philosophy: As a firm, Shenkman focuses first and foremost on identifying money good credits, a key element of success in this asset class.
- Depth of Research Team: The quality of Shenkman's 21 member credit research team allows our bank loan portfolio managers to feel confident seeking out price anomalies and relative value trades.
- Mandatory Management Contact: We believe the significant overlap between Bond and Loan issuers is a key advantage for Shenkman as we often have had a meaningful dialogue that can include one-on-one meetings, a rarity for loan-only managers.
- Track Record Through Many Market Cycles: While there are many bank loan strategies, Shenkman Capital is one of a few managers with a track record dating back to 1998.

*The Shenkman Group of Companies AUM represents $25.9bn managed by Shenkman Capital Management Inc. and $3.2bn managed by Romark Credit Advisors LP and its relying advisors. See disclaimers for additional important information on the Shenkman Group of Companies.

MONTHLY COMMENTARY

The Morningstar LSTA US Leveraged Loan Index (the "Index") returned 1.05% in April (the "Period"), outperforming most fixed-income asset classes as Treasury yields remained below recent highs as investors struggled to shake regional bank jitters following the sudden collapses of Silicon Valley Bank and Signature Bank. The dearth of primary market issuance, continued collateralized loan obligation (CLO) formations, and sustained hawkish pronouncements from the Fed continued to buoy the asset class in what has proved to be a volatile start to the year for the broader markets in the wake of recent bank failures. The credit markets largely moved in tandem in April with high yield bonds, investment grade bonds, and Treasuries, as measured by the ICE BofA US High Yield Index (H0A0), ICE BofA Corporate Index (C0A0), and the ICE BofA Current 10-year Treasury Index (GA10), posting returns of 0.97%, 0.85%, and 0.72%, respectively, while loans, as measured by the Index, returned 1.05%.

Returns by rating exhibited a risk-on tone as CCCs outperformed for the Period. Higher-quality BB & above and B-rated loans returned 0.82% and 1.15%, respectively, for the Period, while CCC & below returned 1.32%. Liquid loans, as measured by the Morningstar LSTA US Leveraged Loan 100 Index, outperformed the Index for the period (1.19% versus 1.05%) as a slow primary calendar prompted investors to shift focus to the secondary market. The top performing industries included Diversified Consumer Services and Entertainment; while Health Care Providers & Services and Media were among the worst performing as 59 of 62 sectors showed a positive return for the period.

New issuance in the leveraged loan market remained sluggish in April, according to J.P. Morgan Research, with a modest $19.0 billion of gross new issuance coming to market. This brings year-to-date primary issuance to $89.3 billion (gross) and $18.5 billion (net), representing declines of 39% and 82%, respectively, versus the same period last year. From a demand standpoint, net CLO formations (ex-refi/resets) totaled $5.1 billion for the month and $39.1 billion year-to-date. There were four loan issuer defaults in April affecting $10.4 billion, including the $9.4 billion Envision Healthcare default. As a result, the J.P. Morgan twelve-month par-weighted leveraged loan default rate increased 63 basis points (bps) to 2.37% in April. Despite the increase, the rate remains below the historical average default rate of approximately 3%.

After two years of global markets largely focused on the global pandemic and subsequent reopening of global economies, 2022 ushered in a new era of interest rate hikes, a Fed balance sheet wind-down, historically high inflation, and armed conflict that is threatening to reverse decades of globalization. Investors continue to grapple with the downstream effects of these factors and how they may impact earnings over the coming quarters, with intense focus on corporate results and earnings outlooks. The collapses of Silicon Valley Bank and Signature Bank may be a case study highlighting the unanticipated consequences of sharp interest rate hikes. The implications for the future of the banking industry are not yet fully discernible, although we believe it is plausible that lending conditions will tighten as banks seek to reduce risk. Recent consumer price index (CPI) data has shown inflation is easing, though the headline figure of 5.0% remains well above the Fed's target of 2.0%, and recent pronouncements show little deviation from their stated intent to contain it. Amidst lingering uncertainties regarding the terminal rate, we anticipate the upcoming months could be a crucial test of market resilience as various initiatives unfold, potentially pressuring both consumer finances and corporate earnings, while geopolitical risks continue to loom large. We continue to monitor developments across industries and the broader economy, assessing the potential impact on the leveraged loan market. Against the backdrop of a relatively benign default environment and a prevailing upward trend in rates, we believe the leveraged loan market presents a compelling relative value, particularly given the Federal Reserve's ongoing commitment to combat inflation. As we seek to proactively manage the portfolio and trading exposures across our global platform, our goal is to seek to safeguard against potential downside risks and optimize returns in the process.

Fund holdings, industry allocations and other characteristics are subject to change at any time and are not recommendations to buy or sell any security. S&P ratings represent Standard & Poor's opinion on the general creditworthiness of a debtor, or the creditworthiness of a debtor with respect to a particular debt security or other financial obligation. Ratings are used to evaluate the likelihood a debt will be repaid and range from AAA (excellent capacity to meet financial obligations) to D (in default). In limited situations when the rating agency has not issued a formal rating, the Advisor will classify the security as nonrated. The Morningstar LSTA U.S. B- Rating & Above Loan Index tracks the current outstanding balance and spread over LIBOR for fully funded institutional term loans that are rated B- or above and syndicated to U.S. loan investors. The Morningstar LSTA US Leveraged Loan Index is a market-value weighted index designed to measure the performance of the US leveraged loan market. The Morningstar LSTA US Leveraged Loan 100 Index is designed to measure the performance of the 100 largest facilities in the US leveraged loan market. Index constituents are market-value weighted, subject to a single loan facility weight cap of 2%. The ICE BofA Current 10-Year U.S. Treasury Index (GA10) is a one security index comprised of the most recently issued 10-year U.S. Treasury Note. London Interbank Offer Rate (LIBOR) – the rate at which banks charge each other for short-term funds; also used as a benchmark for short-term interest rates. Basis Points (bps) – A basis point is a value equaling one one-hundredth of a percent (1/100 of 1%). The Consumer Price Index (CPI) is a measure that examines the weighted average of prices of a basket of consumer goods and services, such as transportation, food, and medical care. Par - The term at par means at face value. A bond, preferred stock, or other debt instruments may trade at par, below par, or above par. An Original Issue Discount (OID) is the discount in price from a bond's face value at the time a bond or other debt instrument is first issued. A covenant is a commitment in a bond or other formal debt agreement that certain activities will or will not be undertaken. Secured Overnight Financing Rate (SOFR) - The secured overnight financing rate (SOFR) is a benchmark interest rate for dollar-denominated derivatives and loans that is replacing the London interbank offered rate (LIBOR). The ICE BofA U.S. High Yield Index (H0A0) has an inception date of August 31, 1986 and tracks the performance of U.S. dollar denominated below investment grade corporate debt publicly issued in the U.S. domestic market. Mutual fund investing involves risk. Principal loss is possible. There can be no assurance that the Fund will achieve its stated objective. In addition to the normal risks associated with investing, bonds and bank loans, and the funds that invest in them are subject to interest rate risk and can be expected to decline in value as interest rates rise. Investment by the Fund in lower-rated and non-rated securities presents a greater risk of loss to principal and interest than higher-rated securities. Diversification does not assure a profit, nor does it protect against a loss in a declining market. The SEC does not endorse, indemnify, approve nor disapprove of any security.

The Fund invests in foreign securities which involve political, economic and currency risks, greater volatility and differences in accounting methods. Derivatives may involve certain costs and risks such as liquidity, interest rate, market, credit, management, and the risk that a position could not be closed when most advantageous. Leverage may cause the effect of an increase or decrease in the value of the portfolio securities to be magnified and the fund to be more volatile than if leverage was not used. Investments in CLOs carry additional risks, including the possibility that distributions from collateral securities will not be adequate to make interest payments and that the quality of the collateral may decline in value or default.

The indices mentioned are unmanaged, not available for direct investment and do not reflect deductions for fees or expenses.

The Fund's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses must be considered carefully before investing.
